"Red Rope of Jericho"
Music and Lyrics by Tyler Burns, © 2012

Verse 1

```
D                    A                    Bm
The end of the week so nervous finds me
                G          D                          A   F#m7
No more comforted by night or the thought that my life, itself
  Cmaj7                          G
Is writing a book already on the shelf
      D                          A
The clock always slows to Friday's crawl
Bm(add9)                              G
Shadows in the street bay the Siren's call as
    D                     A6        B7
Mansions appear; negligees surround me
Em      D/F#
    In costume rooms
Em        D/F#
    Built    as    tombs
G            A         Bm      A6
    For the shy and lonely
```

Chorus

```
    G                    D
So I'll wait for your sign
                         A            Bm     A
Throw down that Red Rope of Jeri---cho
         G                    D
When will you join my side
                         A                Bm     Am7
And tell me the secrets that I've never known?
        G              D
Yeah, I'll wait for your sign
                         F#7          Bm    A6
Throw down that Red Rope of Jeri---cho
  Gmaj7
Sometime
```

Verse 2

D A Bm
The twilight fades so far behind me
G D A F#m7
Your door slammed in my face, this petty bourgeoi-sie
Cmaj7 G
Just wanted some communi-ty
D A
I'll lie in bed, watch a TV show
Bm(add9) G
I'll try to live my life in the status quo
D A6 B7
You say, "The next generation will change our worldview"
Em D/F#
But I'm the man
Em D/F#
The also-ran
G A Bm A6
That your kid grew into
